

PLANS FOR 'NBC BANDSTAND,' TWO-HOUR MORNING RADIO PROGRAM TO REPLACE
'WEEKDAY,' OUTLINED TO EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF NETWORK AFFILIATES

FOR RELEASE MONDAY A.M., JULY 2

The National Broadcasting Company has presented plans to the Executive Committee of its Radio Affiliates for a new two-hour morning radio program -- tentatively called NBC BANDSTAND -- to replace WEEKDAY when the latter program goes off the air July 27.

As outlined on Friday by NBC executives, the new program would:

- 1. Present the outstanding popular orchestras in the country in a two-hour daily program of "live" musical entertainment. The programs would be heard Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, EDT.
- 2. Feature one of the top names of the entertainment world as permanent master of ceremonies or "Mr. Music" of the show.
- 3. Offer as guests a steady stream of the biggest names of Broadway and Hollywood and the music and recording worlds.

As proposed by the network, "NBC Bandstand" would kick-off on Monday, July 30. Among the name orchestras being considered for the program are those of the Dorsey Brothers, Benny Goodman, Guy Lombardo, Freddy Martin, Sammy Kaye, Les Brown, Xavier Cugat, Harry James, Ray Anthony and Louis Armstrong. Each orchestra would be featured individually on the program.

The NBC officials told the affiliates' group that "NBC Bandstand" would originate in New York from a prominent location yet to be selected. They also reported that plans were being considered for simulcasting a half-hour of the program each morning over the NBC-TV network.

Lester W. Lindow, of WFDF, Flint, Mich., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the NBC Radio Affiliates, said at the conclusion of the meeting:

"The Executive Committee of the NBC Radio Affiliates presented to officials of the National Broadcasting Company a wide variety of views and opinions about radio broadcasting which had been received from the individual stations throughout the country. These were received with great interest by the network officials and were discussed and reviewed at our meeting. The plan presented by NBC for the new morning radio program offers many interesting possibilities for giving new life to morning radio. It will be reported to all the NBC Radio Affiliates for their individual consideration through a special closed circuit Monday noon, July 2."

Robert W. Sarnoff, President of NBC, reviewed for the Executive Committee the outstanding commercial success of "Monitor," NBC's week-end radio service, and pointed out that in its first year, just concluded, "Monitor" increased NBC Radio week-end revenue by 278 per cent over the preceding year. This, he said, was in the face of declines by other radio networks in week-end billings. Mr. Sarnoff also noted that NBC now leads the second network in week-night

NEW EXHIBIT TO EXPLAIN RCA'S COMPATIBLE COLOR TV SYSTEM TO NBC VISITORS

A new exhibit explaining how RCA's compatible color tele-vision system works has been set up in the National Broadcasting Company's New York headquarters. Located just outside the viewing room for the famous Studio 8H, one of the highlights of NBC's guided tour, the illuminated display will be used by the tour guides to show NBC's visitors how an image is transmitted from studio to home by all-electronic compatible color television.

The exhibit, produced by Bertell, Inc., under the supervision of William S. Hedges, Vice President in charge of Integrated Services for NBC, consists of nine colorful illustrations. They are lighted separately by the guide as he explains each step in the transmission of a color scene.

The explanation begins with a brief description of the three primary colors and the color bar test pattern used to adjust equipment. Then the diagrams of the image orthicon and picture tubes are explained, as are the components of the color television camera.

Moving lights trace the signal as it travels from the camera to the transmitting antenna and then to the receiver at home. Finally, both the full-color picture as seen on a color television set, and a high-quality black and white picture of the same scene as it is received on a conventional black and white set, are shown.

TV ADVERTISING HAS STRONGER IMPACT ON AUTOMOBILE DEALERS AND PROSPECTS THAN ANY OTHER MEDIUM, NBC SURVEY SHOWS

FOR RELEASE MONDAY A.M., JULY 9

Television has a stronger impact on automobile dealers and prospects than any other medium. Dealers say television is the most effective national medium in getting people to visit their showrooms.

In addition, television is also the preferred national medium for pre-selling the prospect and making the dealer's job easier, and is the one type of advertising most strongly recommended by dealers.

These are some of the highlights of an NBC survey conducted to provide indications of the comparative effectiveness for automobile advertising of the major national advertising media and shown to leaders of the automobile industry in Detroit last week. The survey was made public today by Hugh M. Beville Jr., Vice President in charge of Planning and Development for NBC.

Other highlights included:

Dealers also feel that car manufacturers should increase their television advertising.

New-car prospects say that television advertising stands out most strongly in their minds, and television above all other media does the most in getting prospects to look at a particular make of automobile.

The study's field research was carried out by Advertest Research, New Brunswick, N.J., under the supervision of Dr. Thomas E. Coffin, Manager of Research for NBC.

Mr. Beville said the survey's sample was interviewed during June 2-5 in 10 major cities in the East and Midwest and included dealers and customers of all "Big Three" makes, in proportion to their share of recent passenger car sales. Personal interviews were conducted with 128 "Big Three" dealers, and with 335 customers in dealers' showrooms. Cities included Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Minneapolis, Nashville, New York and St. Louis.

Highlights of the dealers! phase of the survey are:

In addition, though more of the automotive advertising budget goes into newspapers, the dealers personally notice TV advertising more than print advertising for their makes. Seventy-two per cent of the dealers interviewed also said that the kind of national advertising that seems to cause more word-of-mouth comment among customers and prospects is television.

When asked, "All things considered, do you think (make sold) should increase its TV advertising, cut back on its TV advertising, or keep it about the same as now?," 51% of the dealers felt it should be increased, 42% said "keep same" and only 5% said cut back.

Adlai E. Stevenson is the overwhelming choice for the Democratic Presidential nomination, according to ballots cast by Democratic state leaders in a telegraphic poll conducted by the NBC News Department.

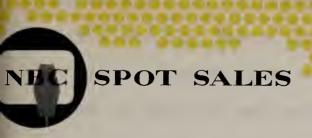

William R. McAndrew, Director of NBC News, today announced the results of the national polling of the 162 Democratic State Chairmen and Democratic National Committeemen and Committeewomen:

Stevenson, 69 per cent; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, 16 per cent; Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, 8 per cent; Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, 3 per cent; and single votes for Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Senator Warren G. Magnuson of Washington.

The Democratic leaders who occupy three of the most influential positions in each state and territory were asked this question: "Assuming first ballot result is indecisive, who do you believe will be the ultimate winner of the Democratic Presidential nomination and on which ballot?"

NBC TO PARTICIPATE IN CONELRAD DRILL JULY 20 FOR FEDERAL CIVIL DEFENSE OPERATION ALERT

The National Broadcasting Company, in conjunction with the Federal Civilian Defense Operation Alert 1956, will participate in a Conelrad drill Friday, July 20, from 4:10-4:25 p.m., EDT.

During this period all NBC television, standard broadcast and FM radio stations will leave the air. However, Civil Defense information will be broadcast at 640 and 1240 kilocycles, the Civil Defense frequencies, by NBC's 191 radio affiliates and other standard broadcast stations which hold National Defense Emergency Authorizations and will continue to operate as part of the Conelrad clusters.

"Conelrad" is an emergency system of broadcasting for use when the country is threatened with an air attack. It is a contraction of the words "Control of Electromagnetic Radiation" and is devised to reduce the navigational aid a potential enemy might obtain from broadcasting stations.

FOR RELEASE MONDAY A.M.. JULY 16

The following letter was sent today by Robert W. Sarnoff, President of the National Broadcasting Company, to Mr. Donald H.
McGannon, President of Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, Inc.:

I have your July 3 letter notifying me that you are dropping the NBC daytime radio programs effective July 16 and the balance of our radio programs by August 26. In doing so, you are rejecting the request in my July 2 letter that you reserve your decision until you have had an opportunity to evaluate our new daytime schedule which goes on the air in a few weeks and to discuss the matter further with me.

In view of your decision to terminate the affiliations between the Westinghouse stations and the NBC radio network, we will proceed to make other radio arrangements in the markets we now serve through your stations.

As you know, we have for some time been providing service to Westinghouse radio stations without any formal contracts because of your refusal to accept radio affiliation contracts on normal terms, and your insistence on special treatment for the Westinghouse stations, involving the elimination of provisions essential to networking and included in contracts with all other radio affiliates. In all of our discussions with you during the past year on ways and means of strengthening the network service, the only affirmative proposal you have made was that we convert to a program syndication service in radio, under which stations would buy programs from us for local sale. In effect, this would have meant abandonment of the present system of radio network operation.

We were not prepared to follow such a course, because we believe that the maintenance of radio networking, with all it offers in diversified entertainment, information and service on a national basis, is important to the public and to the affiliates who are concerned with their service to the public. We have therefore dedicated energy and money -- and have incurred substantial losses -- in a continuing effort to increase the effectiveness of the radio network medium. Our affiliates want us to succeed in this effort, and are supporting us in it. Although the changes in the business have reduced the revenue and audience they obtain from the radio network, they recognize, as we do, the national importance of the network service. They are also conscious of the great values the NBC radio affiliation has had to them over their long history with us, and will continue to have in the future. On our part, we will continue to search for and adopt every means that will make radio networking more productive, as long as our affiliates look to us for this service.

Your action indicates that you have no interest in the maintenance for the public of the national radio service which the networks provide. You are unwilling to continue furnishing your radio audiences with network programs such as the political conventions, the World Series, the world-wide news presentations and special events coverage and all the other network services of national significance, because the revenue you obtain from the network has declined in recent years. You are taking this action despite the fact that the Westinghouse stations have developed important standing in their markets and have realized millions of dollars in profit as a result of their NBC radio affiliations, which go back over a period of 30 years. And by withdrawing from the network, you are also seceding from participation in the effort we share with our other affiliates to support and strengthen a basic national communications system.

Your decision seems to me to be based on a short-sighted policy which is not typical of the policy followed by the Westinghouse Broadcasting management which helped pioneer and develop radio with NBC. I am sorry to see you take this decision to terminate the NBC radio affiliations, but since you have resolved on your course of action, we will abide by it and proceed to act on it.

OF 'NBC BANDSTAND,' LIVE MUSIC SHOW ON RADIO

Bert Parks Will Be Permanent Emcee; Half-Hour Segment of Series to Be Telecast Daily

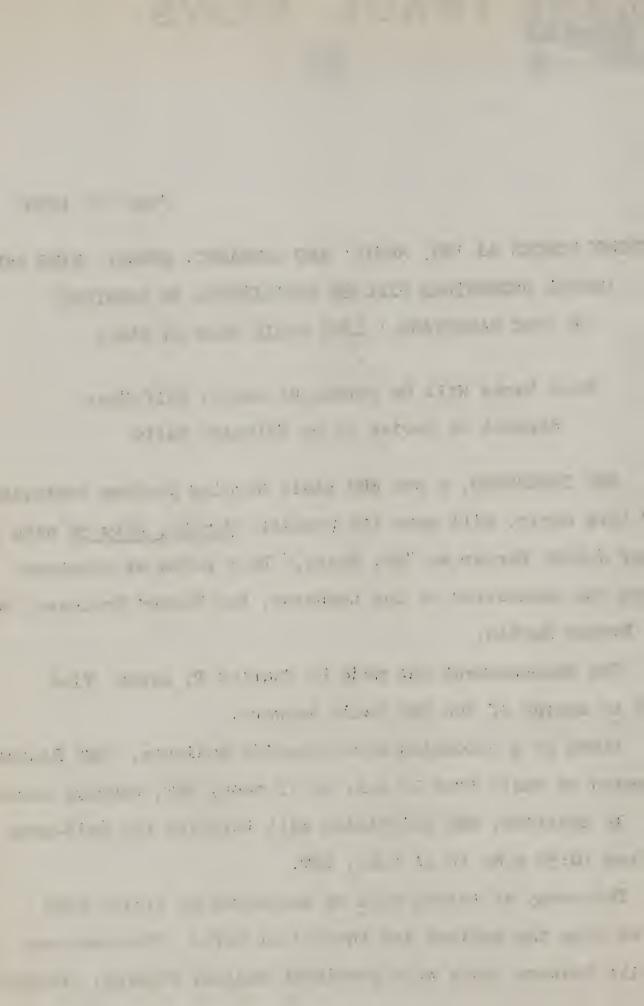

NBC BANDSTAND, a new NBC Radio morning program featuring two hours of live music, will have its premiere Monday, July 30 with songwriter Johnny Mercer as "Mr. Music," Bert Parks as permanent emcee, and the orchestras of Guy Lombardo, the Dorsey Brothers, Wayne King and Freddy Martin.

The announcement was made by Charles T. Ayres, Vice President in charge of the NBC Radio Network.

Aimed at a predominantly-housewife audience, "NBC Bandstand" will be heard on radio from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, EDT, Mondays through Fridays. In addition, NBC Television will televise the half-hour segment from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., EDT.

The array of talent will be bolstered by visits with celebrities from the musical and theatrical world. The two-hour program will feature chats with prominent musical figures, reminiscences about hit songs of yesteryear, and other sidelights with a musical theme.

The four orchestras will share the billing during the first week, with Guy Lombardo and the Dorsey Brothers originating in the NBC Studios in New York, Wayne King in Los Angeles and Freddy Martin in Chicago. All orchestras will broadcast live.

Bert Parks, one of the outstanding masters of ceremonies in broadcasting, will be permanent emcee on "NBC Bandstand."

As "Mr. Music" for the first week, Johnny Mercer will discuss some of his hit songs, and chat with the bandleaders and visiting celebrities. Mercer is famous on Tin Pan Alley for such compositions as "Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe," "And the Angels Sing," "Tangerine" and others.

The idea for NBC Bandstand was conceived by William R. Goodheart, Jr., an NBC program executive. "The studies we have made indicate that housewives want good, easy-listening music," he said. "That's just what we're going to give them -- two full hours of live big band music every morning."

"We'll steer clear of bands that play only rock-and-roll, or be-bop. We feel the housewife wants to sweep and dust in the morning -- not jitterbug. Our concept is this simple: 'NBC Bandstand' will feature entertaining music -- distinctive because it's live and because it presents all big bands."

CYRIL RITCHARD (Eisenstein) - The distance from Captain Hook, which won him millions of new fans in NBC-TV's twice-told "Peter Pan," to dashing Eisenstein is accomplished with aplomb by the versatile Ritchard. In a career that began in the chorus of "A Waltz Dream" in his native Australia, almost nothing musical, singable, danceable, witty, clever or histrionic has been out of his talent range. Australia, England, the Continent and New York have applauded him through the years in such fare as "Charlot's Revue, " "Roberta, " "The Gay Divorce, " "The Little Revue, " "The Importance of Being Earnest, " "The Merry Widow, " "Gay Rosalinda," "Tonight at 8:30," "Love for Love," "The Relapse" and, with Katharine Hepburn in both London and New York in Shaw's "The Millionairess." Throughout the U.S., his appearances in both comedy and drama on NBC-TV on "Producers! Showcase," in Max Liebman and Maurice Evans TV presentations, on "Playwrights '56" and others have made him a favorite of a national audience. As a director, he has staged such Broadway shows as "Almanac," "Buy Me Blue Ribbons," "Jane," "Misalliance" and the Metropolitan Opera productions of "The Barber of Seville" and "The Tales of Hoffman." Upcoming: directing and acting assignments in the "Met's" Christmas offering, "La Perichole," and in Gore Vidal's new Broadway play, "Visit to a Small Planet," which Ritchard first performed on NBC-TV.

JEAN FENN (Rosalinda) - Miss Fenn has been heard at the world-famous Metropolitan Opera House as Musetta in "La Boheme," Marguerite in "Faust," Sdenka in "Arabella" and Violetta in "La

She made her first professional theatre appearance for the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Association in "Rose Marie," later singing under the same auspices in "The Merry Widow," "Song of Norway," "Kiss Me Kate" and the recent West Coast revival of this production of "Rosalinda." A concert tour of the South, "Bittersweet" in Kansas City, "La Traviata" in Boston, a Detroit singing date and the New York City Center and New Orleans operas have kept her busily occupied meanwhile.

Opera, reached her goal by winning over 900 other candidates in the Metropolitan Auditions of the air. From two lines in "Der Rosenkavalier," she advanced two days later to Musetta's role in "La Boheme," then leads in "The Marriage of Figaro," "The Magic Flute," "Gianni Schicchi," "Parsifal" and "Die Fledermaus," in which she repeated her performance on TV's "Omnibus." In addition to a repertoire of 45 roles in opera and operetta, she is a popular rhythm and blues singer on RCA Victor and other recordings. Mrs. Hunt is married to Morton Hunt, president of the Society of Magazine Writers. She is a licensed dental hygienist in her native Pennsylvania.

ROBERT WRIGHT (Falke) - A star of "Kiss Me Kate" for over 1000 Broadway performances, Wright also sang the role on tour as far as California. He has an impressive list of credits on radio, TV, concert and light opera, as well. Earlier in his career, Wright literally "sang for his supper" across the length and breadth of France, much in the style of the troubadours of old.

NBC TASK FORCE EN ROUTE TO SOUTHEAST ASIA TO MAKE 90-MINUTE COLOR FILM ON 'UNCOMMITTED' NATIONS

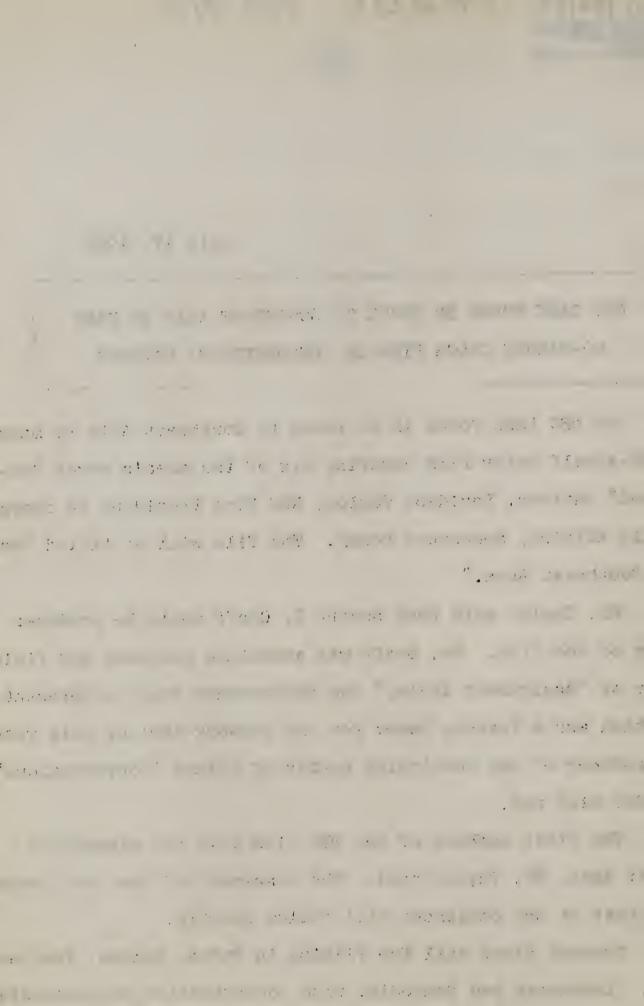

An NBC task force is en route to Southeast Asia to make an hour-and-a-half color film covering six of the area's seven "uncommitted" nations, Davidson Taylor, NBC Vice President in charge of Public Affairs, announced today. The film will be titled "Assignment: Southeast Asia."

Mr. Taylor said that Robert D. Graff would be producer and director of the film. Mr. Graff was associate producer and field director of "Assignment India," the documentary study of present-day India which won a Peabody Award for the network earlier this year. He is producer of the continuing series of filmed "Conversations" with elder wise men.

The first members of the NBC film unit are already in Southeast Asia, Mr. Taylor said. The remainder of the task force and the rest of the equipment will follow shortly.

Present plans call for filming in Burma, Malaya, Thailand, Vietnam, Indonesia and Cambodia, with concentration on Indonesia and Thailand as representative of the area. Filming will begin in August and continue for about three months. A prominent American, whose name will be announced soon, will serve as guide in interpreting the area's many problems.

Outlining the aims of the new undertaking, Mr. Taylor said:
"Southeast Asia is, after India, the largest and most important uncommitted area in the world, yet it is almost unknown in the United States. It is vital for the future of our nation, as the leader of the free world, that our people understand what is happening there, where seven new nations are striving to become functioning democracies despite severe internal problems and the ever-present threat of Communism."

NBC is still negotiating with the Soviet Union to make a film inside that country, Mr. Taylor said, but negotiations have not progressed far enough to make production of the film possible in Russia this summer. "We have therefore decided to go ahead with 'Assignment: Southeast Asia'," he said. "Negotiations with the Russians are continuing, and it is our hope that 'Assignment: Soviet Union' will be the third program in an 'Assignment' series."

The two camera-and-sound crews which will operate concurrently in Southeast Asia will be composed of many of the same persons who were involved in production of the India film, Mr. Graff said.

"In this film the cameras will range from the small rural villages to the new industrial centers, from the lower schools to

"We will concentrate on the two most representative countries, Thailand, the oldest free nation in the area and a friend of the West, and Indonesia, one of the newest nations and, after the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R., the third richest nation in the world in raw materials. We shall look briefly at the other nations to see the essential similarities of their problems with one or the other of our key countires, and some of the differences."

According to current plans, "Assignment: Southeast Asia" will be presented on "Telescope," a Sunday afternoon series on current history of which Ben Park is executive producer.

'TWENTY-ONE,' NEW QUIZ PROGRAM OFFERING UNLIMITED CASH AWARDS, WILL START SEPT. 12 ON NBC-TV; PHARMACEUTICALS INC.
TO SPONSOR SHOW, WITH JACK BARRY AS EMCEE

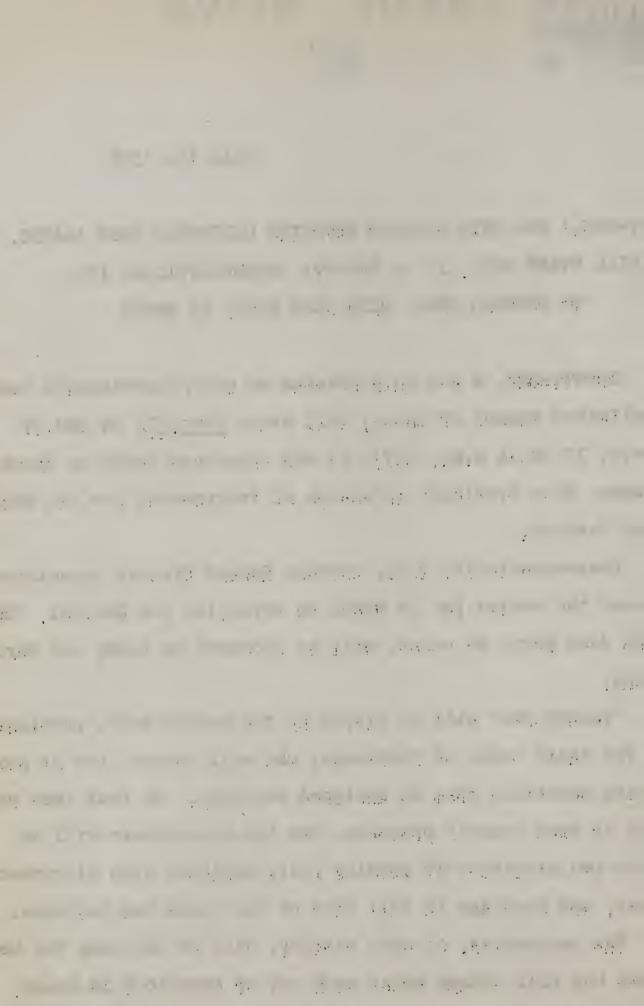

TWENTY-ONE, a new quiz program on which contestants can win an unlimited amount of money, will start Sept. 12 on NBC-TV (Wednesdays, 10:30-11 p.m., EDT), it was announced today by Richard A.R. Pinkham, Vice President in charge of Programming for the NBC Television Network.

Pharmaceuticals, Inc., through Edward Kletter Associates, will sponsor the series for 52 weeks to advertise its Geritol. The show, with Jack Barry as emcee, will be produced by Barry and Enright Productions.

"Twenty-One" will be played by two contestants, previously selected for their range of knowledge, who will compete for 21 points by answering questions from an assigned category. So that they will be unaware of each other's progress, the two contestants will be isolated in two miniature TV studios fully equipped with microphones and cameras, and on-stage in full view of the emcee and audience.

The categories, of wide variety, will be the same for both contestants but will change after each set of questions is asked.

The contestants will be able to win from one to 11 points for each correct answer, but the higher the number chosen the more difficult the question will be. If the contestant cannot answer the question, however, the number of points the question is worth will be deducted from his score to that time.

The first contestant to get 21 points will win, and will receive $500 a point for the difference between his score and that of his opponent. The winner will then have the opportunity to win more money by competing against a new opponent. If the first winner continues and loses, the challenger's earnings will be subtracted from the former's total. If a contestant continues to beat his challengers, though, he will be allowed to return and increase his winnings until he is defeated.

A 60-foot-high telescopic crane located on a mobile vehicle will be used as a live TV camera perch by NBC News at the conventions in Chicago and San Francisco. From it, cameramen will shoot bird's-eye-views of politicos arriving, parades, and such events. They'll also be able to peer into hotel rooms where caucuses are being held.

"Operation Calamity" is the name given to the weekend between the back-to-back Democratic and Republican conventions this August by George McElrath, Operations Supervisor for the NBC Radio and TV Network. Tons of electronic gear and hundreds of people from NBC will have to be moved from Chicago to San Francisco on the weekend of Aug. 18-19.

State delegation chairmen will have the opportunity of giving TV and radio reports to the citizens of their states, via NBC News. Special facilities will be set up in both convention halls so chairmen can come in to be filmed and their comments tape-recorded. The results will be sent to affiliate stations in the appropriate areas.

2 - Convention Cues

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty, the Washington reporter who will cover the conventions for NBC News and HOME, has the special distinction of looking just like Franklin Delano Roosevelt. For years she portrayed the late President at the Women's National Press Club annual skit in Washington, and on one occasion Mrs. Roosevelt invited her to come to the White House to do her skit. When Mrs. Tufty arrived, garbed in men's clothes and with a cigarette holder tilted jauntily, Secret Service men raced over in a panic, wondering how the President had emerged without their knowledge.

The importance of a woman's wardrobe on TV is stressed by commentator Pauline Frederick, who will be covering the conventions for NBC News. "If a male commentator is involved," she says, "people listen first and then look him over, but it's just the opposite with a woman -- they see whether they like her looks first before they listen."

Did you know that all the orators will be six feet tall at the conventions this summer? Bob Doyle of NBC, who will direct the pool coverage in Chicago, points out that there's an elevator platform behind the speaker's rostrum that adjusts to make all the speakers hit the seeming six-foot mark -- at least.

NBC RADIO AFFILIATES CREATE PROGRAM ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO COOPERATE WITH NETWORK EXECUTIVES

A program advisory committee has been created by the NBC Radio affiliates to cooperate closely with NBC executives in planning, on a continuing basis, the program structure of the Radio Network.

Announcement of the group's formation was made today by Lester W. Lindow, Chairman of the NBC Radio Affiliates Executive Committee and Vice President and General Manager of WFDF, Flint, Mich.

The special program advisory committee was formed, Mr.

Lindow said, after discussions between the NBC Radio Network officials and members of the NBC Radio Affiliates Executive Committee at a meeting in New York on June 29. Mr. Lindow said that the five man committee was formed to "reflect the thinking of the affiliates and assist the network in its plans by trying to help it make these plans as practical and desirable as possible."

The new committee will consist of: Alex Keese, Director of WFAA, Dallas; Louis Read, Vice President and Commercial Manager of WDSU, New Orleans; Harold Essex, Vice President and General Manager of WSJS, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Harold Grams, Program Manager of KSD, St. Louis; and William Warren, Executive Vice President and General Manager of KOMO, Seattle.

Date of the committee's first meeting will be announced later.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD DINNER OF FISHER BODY CRAFTSMAN'S GUILD, HONORING TEENAGE CAR DESIGNERS, WILL BE BROADCAST

Teenagers who have designed and built outstanding model cars will be honored at the 26th Annual Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild Award Dinner, to be broadcast for the second consecutive year on NBC Radio, Tuesday, July 31 (9-9:30 p.m., EDT).

The program, sponsored by the Fisher Body Division of General Motors through the Kudner Agency Inc., will originate in the auditorium of the new Fisher Body Building in the recently completed General Motors Technical Center near Detroit.

The awards dinner, announcing $38,000 in university scholarships, climaxes the project through which thousands of boys 12 to 19 years old are encouraged to design and build their "dream cars." This year there will be 10 additional $1,000 scholarships for winners of the new Styling Award. In addition, the eight scholarships presented to four junior and four senior division winners of the National Awards have been increased substantially. They are now worth $5,000 for first award, $4,000 for second, $3,000 for third and $2,000 for fourth.

Guild President James E. Goodman, general mananger of the Fisher Body Division and a vice president of General Motors, will announce the winners. Charles F. Kettering, research consultant to General Motors and a member of its board of directors, also will speak.

MINIATURE RCA TELEVISION CAMERA AND TRANSMITTER WILL BE USED BY NBC NEWSMEN COVERING CONVENTIONS

New Portable TV "Station" Equipped With Transistors Represents Most Compact, Complete System Yet Designed for Telecasting -- Can Send Signals More than Mile in Spot News Pickups -- Weighs Only 15 Pounds

A radical new transistorized miniature television camera and portable transmitter for spot news telecasting and other TV field pick-up functions were announced today by the Radio Corporation of America.

Developed at the David Sarnoff Research Center of RCA in Princeton, N.J., the experimental equipment is described by RCA scientists as perhaps the most compact, complete system yet designed for picking up and transmitting television pictures. It includes a 4-pound camera equipped with a novel electronic viewfinder, and a 15-pound back-pack transmitter capable of sending TV signals to a base station more than a mile away.

The RCA announcement disclosed that the National Broadcasting Company will make experimental use of the system in television coverage of the national political conventions, beginning with the Democratic National Convention in Chicago on August 13.

The use of portable cameras and transmitters for news coverage was pioneered by RCA and NBC at the political conventions in 1952, with equipment far less advanced technically than that announced today.

The developmental transistorized camera and transmitter were designed by an RCA research team including L. E. Flory, J. M. Morgan, John Dilley, W. S. Pike, G. W. Gray, and Lawrence Boyer, working under the guidance of Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin, Honorary Vice-President of RCA.

Dr. Zworykin described the new camera and transmitter as "major achievements in broadening the flexibility of television as a highly effective tool for gathering and instantaneously transmitting information from practically any location."

He emphasized that the equipment is entirely transistorized, with the exception of the transmitting and pick-up tubes. Seventy transistors are used in the entire assembly. Dr. Zworykin pointed out that a major contribution to the achievement of the new equipment was made by RCA's program of transistor development, particularly in the field of high-frequency transistors.

- Mr. Flory pointed out these important features of the new equipment:
- -- The transistorized camera is built around a new RCA-developed Vidicon television camera tube only $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch in diameter and no longer than a king-size cigarette, and employing any standard 8mm motion picture camera lens. Mr. Flory pointed out that in spite of its small size, the developmental tube has a sensitivity greater than that of the standard 1-inch Vidicon pick-up tube commonly used in portable TV cameras. The tube, employing an improved light-sensitive surface, was developed by A. D. Cope, of the research staff at the David Sarnoff Research Center.
- finder which can be detached from the camera and hung around the cameraman's neck. Since it is electronically synchronized with the camera, the finder displays a scene as viewed by the camera lens even when the two elements are separated in this fashion.

 As an example of how this feature would be used, Mr. Flory pointed out that the cameraman could look down into the viewfinder to observe a scene being picked up by the camera, while the camera itself is held overhead to see over a crowd or other obstacle.
- -- Exclusive of the view-finder, the developmental camera is only $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches high, 3 inches wide, and $8\frac{1}{4}$ inches long. All necessary circuitry and controls are contained within this compact unit, which feeds directly into the back-pack transmitter housing a synchronizing generator, transmitter and power supply.

-- The back-pack transmitter, also completely transistorized, weighs only 15 pounds, complete with batteries, as against approximately 50 pounds for previous portable transmitter equipment with tubes. The pack is 12 inches wide, 13 inches high and 3 inches deep. The batteries employed with the unit can operate the camera and transmitter for about 5 hours, according to Mr. Flory, in contrast to the two-hour life of batteries employed with tube-operated equipment.

Developmental samples of RCA's new one-half-inch Vidicon camera tube will be made available to television camera manufacturers within a few weeks, according to L. F. Holleran, General Marketing Manager, RCA Tube Division.

FIVE-WAY SPLIT SCREEN PROCESS OF NBC AT CONVENTIONS WILL PROVIDE UNUSUAL MONTAGES OF PARTICIPANTS

By means of a newly devised five-way split screen, NBC News will bring television viewers some intriguing candid shots of political reaction during the Democratic and Republican Conventions.

For example, assume Adlai Stevenson is speaking. Through the complex video inset process, he will be "burned" electronically into a diamond in the center of the screen. Surrounding him will be the faces of four such prominent Democrats as, say, Averell Harriman, Harry Truman, Estes Kefauver and William F. Kennedy.

The entire proceeding will be live, accomplished by five separate cameras located in various parts of the Chicago Convention Hall.

Thus the reactions of the listening leaders -- be they reactions of enthusiasm, disapproval, boredom or whatever -- will be caught in every variation and presented simultaneously on one screen.

The same procedure will be repeated at the Republican Convention in San Francisco -- with plans to capture the expressions of such persons as Richard Nixon, Thomas E. Dewey, Herbert Hoover and Joseph McCarthy as they harken to the words of President Eisenhower.

'HOME' TO EMPHASIZE 'PREDICTABILITY' IN TELECAST SCHEDULE:
FORMAT CHANGE IS BASED ON RESULTS OF AUDIENCE SURVEY

A new approach to the programming of NBC-TV's HOME (Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 12 noon, EDT), based on the results of a viewer survey made at the conclusion of the program's second year, will be inaugurated on Sept. 3.

Two basic changes in the program's format will be made.

First, service material (on food, fashion, travel, entertaining etc.)

will be scheduled on set days of the week, so that the viewer may predict that she can see fashions on Monday, for example, or food features on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Second change in the format will be in the type of general feature material which will be presented.

It will be of broader interest and will tend toward "first person" journalism -- stories about people both famous and unknown who have interesting stories to tell.

Both these alterations in the HOME format -- predictability of programming and emphasis on broader feature material -- were made not only as the results of the viewer survey, but on the strength of "Home's" viewer mail indicating a shift in viewer interest trends.

The week's schedule, beginning Sept. 3, will be as follows:

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW TELEVISION CENTER FOR WBUF, BUFFALO, NEARS COMPLETION; NBC OWNED UHF STATION TO BROADCAST ON CHANNEL 17 WITH GREATLY INCREASED POWER

Construction of the new $1,500,000 Television Center for WBUF, the television station of the National Broadcasting Company in Buffalo, is nearing completion, it was announced today by Charles C. Bevis, Jr., General Manager of WBUF.

Tuesday, August 14, is the date for WBUF to become the exclusive outlet for NBC Television Network programs in Buffalo. The station, broadcasting on Channel 17 in the ultra-high frequency band, already carries a substantial number of NBC programs. By August 12, virtually the entire network schedule will be carried by WBUF.

The NBC Television coverage of the Democratic Party national convention, which begins in Chicago on Monday August 13, will be carried in full and exclusively on Channel 17.

The present schedule of color broadcasts will be greatly enlarged, Mr. Bevis said. At least one major network program will be broadcast in color every night, in addition to the color spectaculars.

2 - WBUF, Buffalo

In August, WBUF will move into its new building, on a three-acre plot at 2077 Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo. It presently broadcasts from the original studio which it occupied last January 9, soon after the purchase of the station by NBC. Broadcasting service will not be interrupted during the move into the new quarters, Mr. Bevis said.

"The new plant will be one of the nation's most modern broadcasting stations," Mr. Bevis said. "It embodies completely new concepts of studio layout and utilizes the extensive station experience of NBC in broadcasting construction and operations."

Upon moving into the new studio, Station WBUF will increase its power output from the present 148,000 watts to a power of 500,000 watts. Later, the power output will be increased even more.

At the rear of the studio building, NBC is constructing a new antenna tower which is 740 feet above ground level -- or more than four times higher than Niagara Falls. The triangular tower will be 1,349 feet above sea level, and will be the highest structure in the city of Buffalo. Each of its three legs is attached to 100 cubic yards of concrete and 14 tons of steel, anchored 17 feet underground. The tower itself will contain 210 tons of steel.

The studio building is being constructed in three phases, with the first phase scheduled for completion with the assumption of full NBC television network service.

The new building, a complete broadcasting plant in every modern detail, will contain a studio with a staging area, a newsroom and executive, sales and operations offices.

The second phase of construction will include a second studio, measuring 40 by 70 feet, a larger and permanent film library, additional property room and general storage space. CALIFORNIA NATIONAL PRODUCTIONS, INC., IS
NEW NAME FOR NBC'S KAGRAN CORPORATION

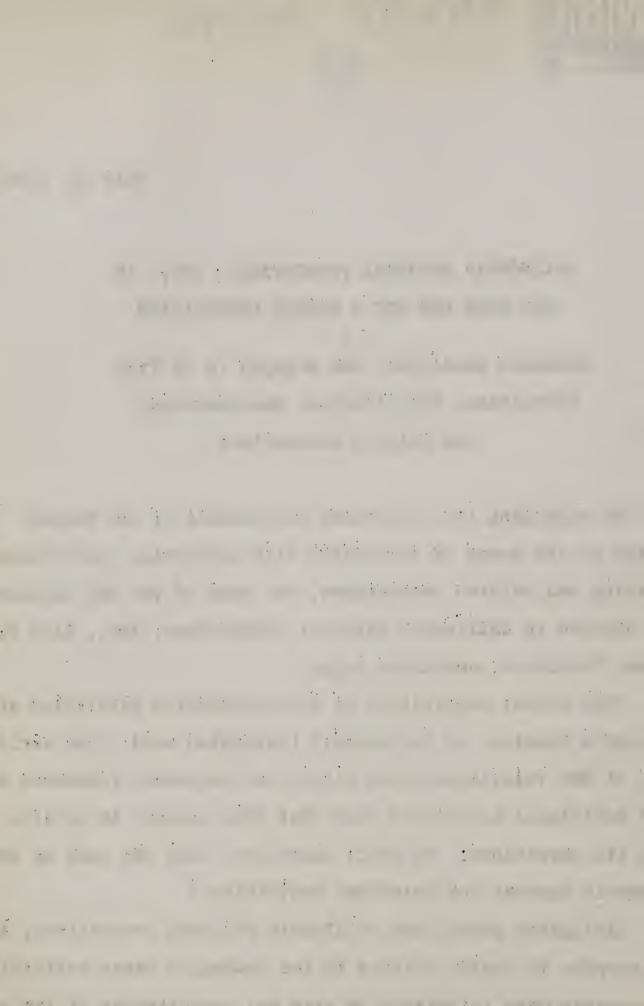

Expanded Subsidiary Now Engaged in TV Film Production, Distribution, Merchandising, and Related Enterprises

To highlight the continuing development of the Kagran Corporation in the areas of television film production, distribution, merchandising and related enterprises, the name of the NBC subsidiary has been changed to California National Productions, Inc., Alan W. Livingston, President, announced today.

"Our recent acquisition of film-production facilities at the California Studios, in Hollywood," Livingston said, "the earlier inclusion of NBC Television Films within our corporate framework and plans for additional activities mean that this company is greatly expanding its operations. We feel, therefore, that the name of the company should suggest our principal activities."

Livingston added that California National Productions, Inc. plans to operate in fields related to the company's basic activities, either connected with television or with the exploitation of its by-products.

California National Productions, Inc. now encompasses the California National Studios, including a fully manned production staff; NBC Television Films, world-wide syndication and network sales organization; the NBC Theatrical Division; and a Merchandising Division.

At California National's newly acquired sound stages two television film series -- "The Life of Riley" and "The Adventures of Hiram Holiday" -- are already in production. Filming will begin shortly on six new pilots, four for national sponsorship and two for syndication. Also co-production arrangements are being negotiated with producers in England, Italy and Mexico, as well as in the United States. A program-development department, with offices in New York and Hollywood, is being established.

NBC Television Films' syndication arm, which was originally established as a major operating division of the parent company in 1953, now distributes 18 successful television film series; operates two streamlined, self-contained film exchanges (in New York and Hollywood); and administers the largest library of stock film footage in the television industry.

The NBC Theatrical Division, which administers the NBC Television Opera Theatre and the new NBC (touring) Opera Company, will also be responsible for investing in theatrical productions for the purpose of acquiring television properties.

The NBC Television Opera Theatre will give six monthly Sunday-afternoon performances beginning Nov. 18, and the touring NBC Opera Company (a joint NBC-RCA presentation) will launch its 10,000-

The Merchandising Division of the company is also expanding its sphere of activities from a variety of sources. 'GOLDEN TOUCH OF FRANKIE CARLE' STARTS ON NBC-TV

Frankie Carle plays host to lovely Joanne Gilbert when he premieres THE GOLDEN TOUCH OF FRANKIE CARLE on NBC-TV Tuesday, Aug. 7 (7:30 to 7:45 p.m., EDT).

The noted composer-pianist creates the relaxed and easy-going mood for the program with his theme, "Sunrise Serenade" -- a tune which he wrote and which today is considered one of the all-time greats. Other melodies slated to receive the Carle treatment on the ivories include some of Frankie's greatest record hits -- "Josephine," "Peg O' My Heart," "Louise," "Autumn Leaves" and "Stardust."

Joanne Gilbert will join Frank in song and will talk about her unique entry into showbusiness when she made her professional singing debut at the Sunset Strip's famed Mocambo.

A musical trio, featuring Perry Bodkin on the guitar, will complement Frankie at the piano. Settings for the 15-minute series, by Syd Russekoff, will be completely abstract, but carefully integrated with each musical selection.

"The Golden Touch of Frankie Carle" will be produced and directed by Jim Jordan Jr. and written by Lenny Gaines and Barry Ziff.

FOREIGN REPORTERS WILL GIVE VIEWS ON U.S. CONVENTIONS
IN 'WORLD WIDE HEADLINES' TELECASTS ON NBC

NBC-TV will answer these questions during the conventions:

What are the significant events of an American political convention to a Russian newspaper correspondent?

How does a British newsman view our system of Does a Japanese reporter find Convention Hall demonstrations dramatic -- or funny, or what?

Because of the world wide interest in American politics, press representatives of every nation will cover the Democratic and Republican conventions next month -- and NBC will gather these newsmen and present them and their views on a series of special television programs called WORLD WIDE HEADLINES.

The programs will be presented during the two convention weeks (Democrats, Aug. 13 to 20, Chicago; Republicans, Aug. 20 to 27, San Francisco) according to Barry Wood, NBC Director of Special Events, who is in charge of production for the conventions.

These men will discuss the latest convention developments from their own unique points of view.

"They'll tell what they think and what they're emphasizing in the stories they cable home.

"This way, American viewers will have the rare opportunity of knowing the substance of convention headlines in Pravda, The London Times, Mianichi Shimbun and all the rest before the local readers even see them."

The first film of the two trans-Atlantic passenger liners that collided last night in the fog off Nantucket Island was presented on NBC-TV's TODAY show at 9:30 a.m., EDT, this morning.

The early film of the scene was provided by WJAR-TV, Providence, Rhode Island, an NBC affiliate working with NBC News.

NBC reporter Maurey Robinson and NBC cameraman Jesse Sabin flew over the scene of the collision between the Italian Line's Andrea Doria and Swedish liner Stockholm at approximately 7 a.m., EDT, in a chartered amphibious plane. With Sabin sitting in the open door of the plane, they made repeated passes over the damaged liners. The Andrea Doria was listing at an angle of about 40 degrees with a 60-foot hole in her bow and no sign of life on the decks. The Stockholm was standing off a short distance with her bow badly smashed. Sabin's footage, which was presented on "Today" at 9:50 a.m., EDT, also showed the Andrea Doria survivors on the deck of the Stockholm.

Robinson provided "Today" with the first eyewitness report on the air shortly after 9 a.m. by phone from LaGuardia Airport.

Robinson appeared live on "Today" to narrate the film and describe the scene at 9:45 a.m., EDT.

Graham, President of the Forest City Publishing Co. which owns and operates WHK.

The Cleveland station, which operates on a frequency of 1420 kilocycles with a power of 5,000 watts, will join NBC Monday, July 30. The Forest City Publishing Co. publishes the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cleveland News, two of the nation's leading newspapers.

In announcing the association with WHK, which celebrated its 35th anniversary in July, Mr. Bannister said: "We are proud to welcome the affiliation of this noted Cleveland organization, which boasts such a long record of outstanding service to its community, with the NBC Radio Network. We are happy also to be able to continue servicing the needs of the people of Cleveland and of the surrounding communities through the facilities of this great station."

Mr. Graham said: "I am particularly happy that this affiliation of Cleveland's first station with the nation's first radio network comes at this time. It will enable us to make NBC's exciting daytime program innovations, 'NBC Bandstand' in the morning and a dramatic block leading off with 'Five Star Matinee' in the afternoon, available to the people in our area. The network's leadership in original programming of this kind makes this new schedule the most promising in years."

NBC NEWS STAFF GOES INTO SWIFT ACTION IN COVERAGE OF SEA CRASH STORY

Thirty-four minutes after the high sea collision

Wednesday (July 25) of the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm, NBC

News received word of the disaster and began an intensive coverage operation with all its available personnel and equipment.

The collision occurred at 11:20 p.m., EDT. William R. McAndrew, Director of NBC News, was alerted and rushed to the office. The off-duty news staffers were routed out of bed and dispatched to Coast Guard headquarters and the steamship line offices. Cameraman Jess Sabin and "Today" reporter Maurie Robinson took off in a chartered amphibious plane at 2:30 a.m. for the scene of the collision.

continuous bulletins and summaries were broadcast on radio. At 9 a.m., Robinson and Sabin returned. While Robinson was making the first eye-witness report by phone to Thursday's (July 26) "Today" show, Sabin's film of the crippled ships was rushed in for use on the program. At 9:30 a.m., "Today" presented the first television footage of the damaged ships through the facilities of WJAR-TV, Providence, an NBC affiliate. Sabin's dramatic air films of the wreck were presented at 9:50 a.m., with Robinson narrating. Meanwhile, NBC Reporter Gabe Pressman, also flown to the scene, witnessed the sinking of the Andrea Doria while pool film was obtained.

At noon, a special 10-minute wrap-up program was presented on television, featuring Sabin's film and Robinson's summary.

A Cadillac mobile unit was loaded on a barge and sent out to the Narrows to cover the arrival of the Ile de France with over 700 of the Andrea Doria's survivors aboard. When the Ile de France docked, NBC Newsmen Chet Huntley and John Rich conducted a special 90-minute telecast (5-6:30 p.m., EDT) of interviews with the survivors on the pier. The special program also included WJAR-TV's film of the actual sinking of the Andrea Doria. A kinescope repeat of the dockside interviews was presented at 1 a.m., Friday.

TEN SINGERS ADDED TO ROSTER OF NBC OPERA COMPANY FOR FIRST ANNUAL TOUR STARTING IN OCTOBER

Ten more artists have been added to the growing roster of singers who will appear in "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Madam Butterfly" in the first annual tour of the NBC Opera Company, starting Thursday, Oct. 11 at St. Mary's College in South Bend, Ind. The singers who have recently been signed for the eight weeks tour are: Kira Baklanova, soprano; Jimi Beni, basso buffo; Shirley Emmons, soprano; Ruth Kobart, mezzo-soprano; David Lloyd, tenor; Gail Manners, soprano; Mac Morgan, baritone; John Tyers, baritone; Luigi Velluci, tenor, and Frances Yeend, soprano.

Eight previously announced artists are Frances Bible, mezzo-soprano; Adelaide Bishop, soprano; Walter Cassel, baritone; Phyllis Curtin, soprano; Edith Evans, mezzo-soprano; Ralph Herbert, baritone; Elaine Malbin, soprano; and Emile Renan, baritone. Additional artists will be announced soon.

2 - NBC Opera Company

The large roster of singers was made necessary by the schedule of the 47-city tour. Because there will be many successive performances of the same opera and engagements will be mostly one performance in a city, it was deemed necessary to have several singers for each principal role. Thus there will be at least four singers as Madam Butterfly, three as Pinkerton, two each as the Countess, Figaro and the Count. Other roles too will be doubled and all roles in addition to this multiple covering will be understudied by members of the ensemble.

'HALLMARK HALL OF FAME' 12-HOUR COLORCASTS RETURN TO NBC OCT. 28-FIVE SHOWS WILL BE SEEN SUNDAY NIGHTS, ONE ON A WEDNESDAY-MAURICE EVANS WILL STAR IN AT LEAST TWO PROGRAMS

The HALLMARK HALL OF FAME, 90-minute "live" color series of distinguished dramas, will return to NBC-TV Sunday, Oct. 28 as a monthly Sunday night feature of the 1956-57 season, Richard A.R. Pinkham, NBC Vice President in charge of Television Network Programs, announced today.

Formerly seen on Sunday afternoons, the series of six programs -- each an hour-and-a-half -- will shift to Sunday night on a schedule that will present some of the productions from 7:30-9 p.m., and others from 9-10:30 p.m., New York time, excepting the final show of the season, which will be seen on Wednesday, April 10, from 8:30-10 p.m., New York time.

Maurice Evans, noted actor-producer who received critical acclaim for his appearances and productions on the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" this past season, will star in at least two performances, Mr. Pinkham said. These will include George Bernard Shaw's classic satire, "Man and Superman" on Sunday, Nov. 25 (9-10:30 p.m., New York time) and another drama to be announced. (Mr. Evans' 1947 Broadway production of "Man and Superman" with its 295 performances holds the record as the longest American run of the famous comedy.)

In addition to Mr. Evans, outstanding stage and screen personalities will be associated with all of the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" programs.

The production unit for the shows, personally chosen by producer Maurice Evans for all his past offerings on the series, will remain intact. Mildred Freed Alberg, formerly Mr. Evans' associate producer, will be executive producer for the upcoming season. George Schaefer, director of all previous Evans TV productions, returns with the added position of producer as well as director.

Hallmark Cards, Inc., which sponsored Mr. Evans' productions of Shakespeare's "Hamlet," "King Richard II" and "Macbeth," and also last season's 90-minute "Hallmark Hall of Fame" series, has sponsored "Hallmark Hall of Fame" on NBC-TV since 1952. Foote, Cone and Belding is the advertising agency for Hallmark Cards.

HERE'S HOW NBC WILL CARRY OUT RADIO AND TV CONVENTION COVERAGE-"LARGEST SCALE NEWS OPERATION IN HISTORY OF THE INDUSTRY"

The mass shift of nearly 400 NBC specialists and some 10,000 pounds of equipment from New York to Chicago for coverage of the 1956 political conventions has already begun. Commentators, technicians, cameramen and key personnel from almost every department in the company are busily setting up headquarters in the convention city. Davidson Taylor, NBC Vice President in charge of Public Affairs, has characterized the project as "the largest scale news operation in the history of the industry."

New equipment, designed expressly for portability and mobility, will enable NBC News to throw an "electronic blanket" over Chicago, and a week later, San Francisco, and interpret the proceedings from the convention halls, delegation caucuses and other strategic points.

(NBC's convention and election coverage will be sponsored jointly by the Oldsmobile Division of the General Motors Corporation, the Sunbeam Corporation and the Radio Corporation of America, whose agencies are, respectively: D.P. Brother Company, Perrin-Paus Company and Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc.)

2 - Convention

Following are some of the highlights of NBC's convention coverage.

- 1. PERSONNEL: NBC will send almost 400 people to Chicago and San Francisco for convention coverage. Under the overall supervision of William R. McAndrew, Director of News, these will be key people from the News, Engineering, Technical Operations, Production, Operations, Film, Press, Station Relations Traffic and Transportation Departments.
- 2. ANCHOR TEAM: Five NBC News commentators have been assigned the key roles of "anchor men" for NBC's television and radio coverage. They are: Chet Huntley, TV news coordinator; David Brinkley, who will do running commentary on television; Bill Henry, television news summaries; Pauline Frederick, radio news coordinator, and Ned Brooks, who will give running commentary on radio. Over 30 other noted reporters and commentators will gather news from the convention halls and key points in the convention cities.
- 3. CONVENTION CENTRAL: This refers to the giant communication centers NBC is constructing at each convention site.

 To be used for only five days, the Convention Centrals will house more personnel and equipment than normally is needed to operate three full-scale television stations.

- 4. TV-ONE: This is the main television studio in Convention Central, the focal point of over $7,000,000 worth of convention coverage. From TV-One, the television anchor team will summarize what has happened, fill the viewers in on what happens next and tie the whole convention story together with commentary.
- 5. FIVE-WAY SPLIT SCREEN: This is basically an electronic process of splitting the viewer's screen into five segments...a diamond-shaped insert in the center and four surrounding quadrants. This will allow the viewers to see not only the platform speaker, but also the reactions of four of his party members.
- 6. CREEPIE-PEEPIE: This is one of NBC's versions of the one-man portable television camera which, unencumbered by cables, allows cameramen access to areas impossible to reach with the bulkier standard equipment.
- 7. ULTRA-PORTABLE: This is a recent RCA-developed portable camera even smaller and more compact than the "creepie-peepie." The new experimental camera weighs only four pounds and its power-pack transmitter only 15 pounds. An added feature to the new camera, which will be publicly introduced during convention coverage, is an electronic viewfinder which can be detached from the camera and worn suspended from a strap around the cameraman's neck. This allows the camera to be used in the manner of a periscope. The cameraman holds the pistol-grip camera over his head and can see the picture the camera is taking.
- 8. HI-LIFT: Trucks with camera platforms on 60-foot hydraulic lifts, allowing overhead shots.

- 9. TRANSCEIVER: This is a tiny two-way radio about the size of a woman's formal handbag which will be used by NBC reporters on the convention floor.
- 10. LOGISTICS: NBC will transport approximately 10,000 pounds of equipment to Chicago and thence to San Francisco. The 1956 emphasis on portability and the fact that the Convention Centrals are being constructed on the site has kept the tonnage figure relatively low. The entire operation -- equipment and personnel -- must be transported 2,000 miles across the country over a single weekend.
- 11. PUSH BUTTON TUNING PHONE: This device permits a coordinator to flip an indicator to a signal number and get instantaneous connection with another phone. He can tune in up to 25 consecutive numbers -- fixing each with a punch of a button -- and talk with any number of people at the same time.
- 12. MOBILE UNITS: In each convention city there will be three standard mobile television units, plus the Cadillac for television, the Thunderbird for radio and an undetermined number of camera and sound cars for film.
- 13. SPOTLIGHTING: Primarily because strong lights cause uncomfortable heat, it has been impossible to spotlight any area of the convention floor other than the platform. NBC will use an electronic process to spotlight any group or area it selects on the convention floor.
- 14. SIMULTANEOUS NEWS COVERAGE: At the conventions, it is often the case that two important stories may break at the same time.

But the editor no longer has to make the agonizing decision as to which should be covered by TV. Both may be covered. While one major story is being broadcast live, one or more other stories may be filmed by kinescope recording and then developed, for use within minutes, in a portable unit that lives up to its nickname of "Jiffy Developer."

- 15. TV CAMERAS: In addition to the pool cameras, NBC will have 36 exclusive NBC television cameras at each site.
- 16. EXECUTIVES: Davidson Taylor, NBC Vice President in charge of Special Events; William R. McAndrew, Director of News, and Barry Wood, Director of Special Events, are in overall charge of the giant convention coverage operation.
- 17. REMOTE AIMING: Remotely aimed cameras within the convention halls will be used to permit pinpoint precision in aiming with a time delay measured in fractions of a second.
- 18. "CROSS-COUNTRY CAUCUS:" During breaks in the action, NBC cameras will take the viewers away from the convention cities to visit newspaper editors and editorial writers across the nation and get their opinions on the political question of the hour.

Additional features include H.V. Kaltenborn interpreting the proceedings for the voters of tomorrow, the teen-age group, and Walt Kelly, cartoonist-creator of "Pogo" conducting his own "Pogo For President" campaign on television.

JAMES A. MICHENER WILL BE 'GUIDE' OF 'ASSIGNMENT: SOUTHEAST ASIA'
COLORCAST ON NBC; ASSIGNED TO WRITE AND NARRATE 12-HOUR FILM

James A. Michener, Pulitzer Prize winner and a noted authority on the South Pacific and Asia, will serve as American "guide" for ASSIGNMENT: SOUTHEAST ASIA, which will be filmed in color for NBC-TV, it was announced today by Robert Graff, producer and director of the project. Mr. Michener will also write and narrate the 90-minute colorcast.

The noted author and journalist will go "on location" to Indonesia, Malaya, Thailand and possibly such other countries to be covered as Burma, Vietnam and Cambodia.

Two "Assignment: Southeast Asia" crew members are already on the scene -- assistant producer Milton Fruchtman and unit manager John Herman. Fruchtman and Herman have already spent two weeks in Indonesia and Thailand conferring with government leaders and arranging suitable location sites. Camera crew and equipment are expected to leave New York soon to join them.

Mr. Michener, who won the Pulitzer Prize in 1947 for "Tales of the South Pacific" (the inspiration for the subsequent Rodgers and Hammerstein stage musical, "South Pacific"), has travelled through Southeast Asia extensively for years and has been interested in the area virtually all of his life. He has written (more) many factual articles about the different countries, as well as such notable fiction as "Return To Paradise" (1951); "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" (1953) and "Sayonara" (1954), all published by Random House.

A former college professor and associate editor for a book publishing firm, Mr. Michener enlisted in the U.S. Navy in World War II and in short order found himself literally in the land of his dreams. First atoll-hopping in the South Pacific as a trouble-shooter in aviation maintenance, later as senior historical officer for the South Pacific district, he visited 49 islands from Australia to Tarawa. Out of this wartime experience came his famous "Tales of the South Pacific." After the war, Michener returned to the exotic scene of his earlier inspiration to collect material for his "Return To Paradise." "Sayonara" also grew out of the writer's extensive Asiatic travels.

Mr. Michener absorbs atmosphere quickly and loves people, both to talk and listen to. Thoroughly engrossed in his work, he has little time for social pursuits, but he is a vehement crusader for young American writers.

The color film will attempt to point up social, economic, political and cultural aspects of an area which is, after India, the most populous and one of the most important in the world.

GUY LOMBARDO SUBS FOR "BATONEER" JAMES C. PETRILLO WHEN ILLNESS
KEEPS MUSICIANS' UNION HEAD FROM "NBC BANDSTAND" PREMIERE

Intestinal flu today made musicians' union head James C. Petrillo miss his "biggest chance to really get into the music business after 40 years."

Mr. Petrillo, President of the American Federation of Musicians, was scheduled to lead an all-star orchestra of big-name bandleaders on the TV-radio-premiere of NBC BANDSTAND, the network's new live music show. (NBC Radio 10 a.m. to 12 noon, EDT; NBC-TV, 10:30-11 a.m., EDT -- Mondays through Fridays.)

Guy Lombardo substituted for Mr. Petrillo at the baton with these fellow bandleaders joining in on "Twelfth Street Rag": Claude Thornhill, piano; Johnny Long, violin; Russ Morgan, trombone; Larry Clinton, trumpet; Jimmy Dorsey, saxophone; and Tommy Dorsey, trombone.

Mr. Petrillo, who earlier said "NBC Bandstand" might help "shake the dance band business from its slump," sent the following telegram to NBC this morning:

'NBC MATINEE THEATER' REACHES 200TH PROGRAM AUG. 8 WHEN HOST JOHN CONTE STARS IN COLORCAST DRAMA WITH ROCK 'N' ROLL THEME

NBC MATINEE THEATER achieves another milestone when it presents its 200th "live" dramatic performance on Wednesday, Aug. 8 (NBC-TV, 3 p.m., EDT), with a colorcast of "The Old Payola," starring John Conte, Jeff Donnell and Jackie Coogan.

In this drama, Conte (normally the regular host of the award-winning series), portrays a crooner whose manager forces him to become a "rock-'n'-roll hipster" for the sake of a "fast buck." Via this drama, Miss Donnell switches from playing George Gobel's wife, Alice, to John Conte's wife, Madge. Jackie Coogan, erstwhile child star of such silent hits as "The Kid," will make one of his rare ventures into "live" TV acting as Marty Nathan, Conte's accompanist.

With this 200th performance, the full-hour, Monday-through-Friday dramatic series, which had its premiere on NBC-TV Oct. 31, 1955, will have completed the equivalent of five years and five weeks of TV on a once-weekly basis.

Albert McCleery, executive producer of the series, has assigned Sherman Marks, one of the show's eight staff directors, to direct the 200th show. Pinch-hitting for Conte as host for the telecast will be his auburn-haired wife, Ruth Conte.

MARY MARTIN TO PORTRAY BILLIE DAWN IN 'BORN YESTERDAY' FOR GARSON KANIN PRODUCTION OF HIS OWN COMEDY HIT
ON OPENING 'HALLMARK HALL OF FAME' COLORCAST

Mary Martin will portray Billie Dawn in Garson Kanin's production of his own smash hit comedy, "Born Yesterday," to be colorcast as the premiere production of the new HALLMARK HALL OF FAME Fall series, Sunday, Oct. 28 (NBC-TV, 7:30-9 p.m., EDT), it was announced today by Thomas A. McAvity, Vice President in Charge of the NBC-TV Network.

The event will herald Miss Martin's first TV appearance since her memorable "Peter Pan" on NBC last January.

"Born Yesterday" will also mark Garson Kanin's entry into television as a director. One of showbusiness's most versatile talents, Mr. Kanin is a noted stage and screen producer, director and dramatist.

"We feel quite certain that 'Born Yesterday' will prove to be one of the landmarks of the coming TV season," Mr. McAvity stated. "The combined talents of a Mary Martin and a Garson Kanin virtually guarantee a sure-fire result. We are fortunate in having two such top-level showbusiness personalities joining forces for what promises to be prime entertainment."

"Born Yesterday" opened in New York at the Lyceum Theatre on Feb. 4, 1946, and became the reigning comedy success of that particular, and several succeeding, seasons, running its merry way through Dec. 31, 1949, for a grand total of 1,642 performances. It brought overnight fame to a former revue artist, Judy Holliday, and to a former sportscaster, Paul Douglas, who played the leads. A motion picture version in 1950 repeated the triumph of the stage play.

Paul Douglas has been invited to re-create his colorful stage characterization of junk dealer Harry Brock in Kanin's TV production and has evidenced willingness to do so if his schedule permits. Mr. Kanin is presently refurbishing his original script especially for Mary Martin's unique talents and it is more than likely that the heroine will now come from Texas, instead of Brooklyn.

"Born Yesterday" tells the meaningful fable of an exchorine who is the protegee of a wealthy junkman, Harry Brock. The latter aspires by political bribery to build an empire out of war scrap metal. Apprehensive that his girl, Billie Dawn, is too unlettered for the world of Washington society in which he must lobby for his unsavory machinations, Brock hires a liberal young writer to educate her. After two months, Billie turns into a reformed citizen with a new outlook, a turn of events quite unpalatable to her sponsor and consequently dangerous to all parties concerned. Throughout, author Kanin tells his enlightening story with riotous good humor. Critical reception to "Born Yesterday" was universally ecstatic, as the following excerpts from reviews attest:

attraction in terms of national football interest.

This will be the fifth consecutive year that NBC Radio has broadcast the Saturday grid feature. For the fourth straight season, sportscaster Curt Gowdy will be the play-by-play commentator for the series.

NBC'S BOB DOYLE WILL DIRECT POOL COVERAGE FOR THREE NETWORKS
AT DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION SESSIONS IN CHICAGO

Bob Doyle of NBC will perch on a high stool at the Democratic Convention in Chicago, survey the huge political picture, and direct the pool television coverage from the convention hall for all three major networks beginning Monday, Aug. 13.

Which means that he will determine whether some 80,000,000 viewers will watch the speaker on the rostrum, a delegation beginning to bolt, or -- during comparatively quiet periods -- such colorful visual bits as a cluster of bald heads, a clapping baby or a sleeping, shoeless delegate. In pursuit of the most vivid pictures possible, he will tell cameramen where to aim, where to pan, and even when to widen and narrow their lenses.

Doyle, who at 35 is producer-director of news and special events for NBC's Washington office, was selected for his herculean inter-network job for the very good reason that he directed pool network coverage for the 1952 Democratic and Republican conventions -- and did it well. (So well that he received notes of commendation from the heads of all the broadcasting companies.)

2 - Directing the Democratic Convention TV Coverage

He's facing up to his responsibility with steady nerves this year but as convention time approached in '52, he confesses, "I was scared to death. It took all my courage just to register at the hotel."

In the course of the first day, though, he learned that directing for several networks produced an advantage that outweighed the seemingly hazardous responsibilities. "I had the benefit of tips from newsmen of all the companies," he says, "so I was thoroughly prepared for just about every conceivable break."

From his high-perched vantage point, Doyle does his directing by means of three telephones. The orders go like this: "Camera 2 go to the Missouri Delegation...Go to Symington -- he's the tall, natty-looking gentleman behind the lady with the big hat...Use the next tightest lens."

(It might be noted here that Doyle's job involves the ability to recognize hundreds of political figures at a glance.)

During the '52 tilts, he developed a collection of nicknames -- "for expendiency, not irreverence" -- and his instructions soon sounded like this: "Go get the boss man (Eisenhower)...follow Bess (Mrs. Truman) with the close lens...Stay with the Governor
(Stevenson)...Pick up Mamie (Mrs. Eisenhower)."

Of the convention job, Doyle says: "It's a director's dream because the story -- one that's been rehearsed for 100 years -- is laid right out before him. It's a continuing story and his job is to present it in terms of personality, conflicts, humor and drama. Most of all, it's a story of people, and the trick is to have the camera on the right people at the right time.

3 - Directing the Democratic Convention TV Coverage

"Covering the inevitable dead spots is the toughest part, but there are always characters to enliven the situation. Last time, there was the Puerto Rican delegate to the Republican Convention, Marcellino Romani, who stopped the proceedings by insisting a name be called and pronounced right -- the laughter he caused broke the tension of days. And there was Mrs. Katherine Howard, the dignified secretary of the Republican Convention, who won the nickname of 'Shoeless Katie' because she kicked off her shoes while we had her on camera.

"My own personal aim in directing the coverage is to make people forget there's a camera involved at all. I use very few tricks because I want people to get so interested in the proceedings that they forget they're watching them on a television set."

Doyle was born in Washington on April 24, 1921. He was graduated from Harvard University, spent four years in the Navy during World War II, part of which time he served as a fighter pilot, and joined NBC as a page in Washington in 1946.

He has handled a broad variety of television drama, quiz, panel and news shows as producer and director and was appointed to his present post in Washington in 1953.

Doyle lives with his wife, Priscilla, and two daughters, Diane and Nancy in Yorktown Village, Md.

Koreans may soon be listening to radio programs styled after MONITOR, the NBC weekend radio service which is gaining international recognition.

Following is a letter recently received by the network in this connection:

Dear Sir:

Would you kindly send some information on the programming format of "Monitor?" We've been hearing so much about its success and the revolution it has effected in radio circles...perhaps...we can adopt some good points for our Korean programming (on a modified scale, at least).
